Technical Session

Topic: The Changing Environment of Building Automation

Bill will be discussing the direct and indirect effects of the energy situation on building automation, as well as the increasing pressure for building automation systems to become more efficient. He will also discuss what ASHRAE and LEED standards set out as mechanisms for attaining better efficiencies, what one can do over and above those standards, and why BACnet is key to improving efficiencies in the future.

Speaker: Bill Swan, Buildings Standards Initiatives Leader, Alerton

Bill works with building automation related standards, primarily BACnet and LEED. He was chair of the BACnet committee from 2004 to 2008, is secretary of ISO/TC 205/WG 3 which maintains BACnet as an ISO standard, and a member of the BACnet Testing Lab working group developing testing for BACnet devices.

Bill is a LEED AP, has a Master's degree in Electronics Engineer and Computer Science, and has implemented communications-protocol stacks for BACnet and other protocols, and designed firmware and electronics for the building automation, test and measurement, and RF communications industries.
